Invitation to authors

Superconductor Science and Technology

Superconducting Large-Scale Applications

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF Damian Hampshire, University of Durham, UK

iopscience.org/sust

IOP Publishing
“Superconductor Science and Technology (SuST) provides a unique combination of quality, freshness, breadth, and specialization. These attributes give it far-reaching impact for large, complex, and heavily integrated applications such as particle accelerators. SuST is a must-read and my top RSS feed bookmark.”
Dr Lance Cooley

Recent articles

- A YBCO-coated conductor for a fault current limiter: architecture influences and optical study

- An overview of Boeing flywheel energy storage systems with high-temperature superconducting bearings

- Superconducting wind turbine generators

- First commercial medium voltage superconducting fault-current limiters: production, test and installation

- Superconductivity: its role, its success and its setbacks in the Large Hadron Collider of CERN

- Design study of a superconducting magnet system for the European Synchrotron Radiation Facility
  F Cau, P Bruzzone and M Vögel 2010 Supercond. Sci. Technol. 23 055006

- Thermal diffusion and quench propagation in YBCO pancake coils wound with ZnO and Mylar insulations

Why publish with us?
We want you to gain recognition for your work through worldwide visibility and high citations. As an author you will benefit from:

- High visibility – all articles are free online for 30 days from web publication
- Fast and impartial peer review
- An electronic publication process and easy online tracking of your paper
- Free multimedia
- No page charges

How to publish
Submit online at authors.iop.org

For more information visit iopscience.org/sust or e-mail us at sust@iop.org